

- UPDATE -

Friday, January 6, 2006

On December 18th, I was ordained to the ministry by our home church, Calvary Baptist Church. Many of my friends traveled to Midland to take part in the questioning and ordination service. God gave us a very special day! There was an atmosphere of warmth and encouragement and I thank the Lord for that. You can see pictures from the ordination day on our website. My ordination council doctrinal statement is also available on our website.

My parents flew in from Chile to be here for the ordination. They have spent two weeks traveling to visit other family. They will be with us now until they fly back to Chile on January 11th.

I will be preaching a few times in the next couple of weeks. From the middle of January through the middle of February we will be packing all the things that we want shipped to Peru. In February we will move out of the mission home that our home church has provided for us and we will begin a month and a half deputation trip that will take us to Florida, the Carolinas, and Tennessee.

We are over 50% of our support now, and we are excited about seeing that jump even higher as we head into January.

In Christ,
Tim Chapman